Further information and guidance on open access publishing and self-archiving

You may submit your articles for self-archival into Jultika via an online form. In the library, we check the publisher's terms and conditions for self-archiving (e.g. version and possible embargo) and deposit the publication into the repository accordingly. You may submit your article for self-archival during the embargo period: only the metadata of the article will be available until the embargo has expired.
